LONDON, June 22.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The reappearance today of the King and Queen after weeks of rain and murky weather, gave to the first day of coronation week an air of unusual gaiety, and saddened the hearts of thousands of British subjects from all parts of the empire, and the thousands of foreigners who are pouring into London, eager to witness as much of this week's events as possible.
The announcement that King Edward, Queen Alexandra and the court would return to London from Windsor tomorrow at noon increased the universal anticipations for that day, and served to quiet the flood of extraordinary rumors concerning the King's physical condition, varied in some quarters by weird tales of plots to assassinate His Majesty and other legends, all of which have been promptly denied by the official and intimate connected with the King.
King Edward's health was announced to be good at Windsor Castle today, and this morning His Majesty attended divine service, accompanied by other members of the royal family. This evening he enjoyed a drive through the royal gardens of Windsor Castle in a closed carriage. The court will arrive at Buckingham Palace tomorrow before lunch, and the coronation will be held on the 28th.
At the command of the King many thousands of persons were admitted to the east terrace of Windsor Castle this afternoon for the Sunday band performance. The terrace was crowded. The King and Queen listened to the music from the windows of their private apartments. King Edward's appearance does not justify the sensational rumors of his illness.
The congested condition of the streets of London throughout today furnished an omen of the condition of travel through the streets the latter days of this week. The barriers across the streets, which intersect those through which the coronation procession will pass and which have now been completed, are proving an impediment to ordinary traffic. Today it was impossible to proceed faster than a small pace through the thoroughfares between Hyde Park and Mansion House. The omnibus companies have increased fares two and three times, and further increases in their rates are probable. The obtaining of a seat on an omnibus was today more a question of physical than financial ability. The crowds today were singularly good-natured, and accidents were few and of a minor character. The police are distinguishing themselves even more than usual by their courtesy and alertness in the interests of pedestrians. Kensington Gardens and the beautiful groves about the Crystal Palace and Alexandra palaces are filled with colonial and native troops, clad in scarlet, white, khaki and blue uniforms.

NEARING A FINISH.
Congress May Quit on July Third.
Cuban Reciprocity Now About Abandoned.
Philippine Government Bill a Leading House Topic.
Conference Reports Numerous.
Army Bill Dispute—Canal Agreement Likely.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—The session of the Senate during the present week will be devoted to odds and ends of legislation, and the purpose of the Republican steering committee to make the Cuban Reciprocity Bill the order of business after the disposition of the Inter-oceanic Canal Bill, but the two Republican conferences have rendered it evident that there could be no reciprocity legislation this session, so the steering committee has abandoned its purpose.
Some interest is manifested in the notice of Senator Quay that he would call up his motion for the discharge of the Committee on Territories from further consideration of the Omnibus Statehood Bill in order to secure action on it during the present session, but the understanding now is that he will not press his motion, and the question will go over until the next session of Congress in obedience to the wish of the Republican leaders. Senator Quay, however, has stated if Senator McMillen will move to have the committee discharged, and the bill taken up, this motion would bring the question up, but coming from the minority under agreement with the majority, it is destined to defeat, as it is understood there are very few, if any, Republican Senators who will support such a motion if made by a Democratic Senator.
It is said the Senate will take up, in obedience to the wish of Senator Burton, the bill creating a national forest reserve in the Southern Appalachian Mountain range, but the understanding is that consideration of the measure shall be confined to one day's debate.
Wednesday, Senator McCumber will be heard in support of the Pure Food Bill, but consideration of this question under agreement will be confined to a speech by the Senator, and there will be no effort at that time to pass the bill.
Senator Stewart's bill confirming the agreement with the Choctaw and Chickasaw Indians is the unfinished business, and it is understood to be Mr. Stewart's purpose to press its consideration when there is no more highly privileged matter to be considered.
Senator Patterson, Monday, will report the General Immigration Bill, and it is understood that he will make strenuous efforts to have the measure considered during the week, or at least before the final adjournment of Congress.
The week will be given over to conference reports on appropriation bills and other measures in dispute between the two houses. The conference report on the Naval Appropriation Bill will be extended Monday, and early consideration will be given the report. There also will be an effort to have the dispute over the Army Bill adjusted during the week, with some prospect of success. The Committee on Appropriations will take up the General Appropriation Bill tomorrow, and probably will report it the latter part of the week. This is the last of the appropriation bills, and with its disposal there will be little in the way of final adjournment of Congress.
Senators generally predict that Congress will disperse between the 1st and 4th of July. The session probably will be extended somewhat by the necessity of concluding the consideration of the Philippine Government Bill, as all the appropriation bills could be finally disposed of during the present week. The Philippine bill until the latter part of the week, and it is expected that it will be necessary to devote considerable time in conference to the differences between the Senate and House. No Senator now places the day of adjournment beyond the Fourth.
The conference between the two houses on the Inter-oceanic Canal Bill has been arranged, and it is expected that an agreement will be arranged during the present week.
It is possible that the Cuban Reciprocity bill before adjournment, but if it should do so, there would be no effort to secure action on it, owing to the well-known opposition of a large part of the Senate.
The friends of the policy of reciprocity are quite determined to bring the matter up at the next session, and repeat what they said in Friday's conference, that they will not desert until they accomplish their purpose. Whether, in the end, they will do this through a bill or through a treaty they do not now undertake to say. It is generally understood that the Senate in a reciprocity treaty with Cuba is well under way, but it is not believed there will be any effort to ratify it during the present session, even if the document should be sent to the Senate.

NEUROUS ANTAGONISM EXTENDED TO AMERICAN PRODUCTS.
Novelty of Design and the Irresistible Characteristic of Economy Alone Impels John Bull to Openly Purchase the Wares of Brother Jonathan—But There's Room for Business.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Frederick Emery, chief of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, today made public the following interesting extract from "Commercial Relations for 1901," showing the state of our trade relations with Great Britain:
"Most notable, perhaps, of all prevailing trade conditions in England, says Consul S. C. McFarland of Nottingham, is the nervous antagonism against foreign goods which has sprung up among the British people. There has long been prejudice against German products, but the recent growth of American trade in all branches has forced itself on the attention of British shoppers, manufacturers and the public generally. The British people are nothing, if not loyal, and they inherit the belief that a British trade mark is a guarantee of quality. There is a disinclination to purchase American goods unless under compulsion of novelty of design or economy, for the latter appeals irresistibly.
"The retailer, therefore, is chary in his offerings, and many lines of goods are now sold without comment, which, one or two years ago, were advertised as 'American make' or 'American style.' The Diamond Match Company has long been known for its English name of Bryant & May. The English tobacco trust calls itself the English Tobacco Company, and advertises its goods as made in England by British women; the proprietary medicine, which were first introduced as American discoveries, now blot from their advertisements anything that might identify them as importations from the United States. With every internal ailment from the apparent effects of the South African war to the idleness of labor in certain localities attributed to American competition, the prevailing prejudice can be understood.
"But despite all prejudices, continues the Consul, and solely because of merit and cheapness, American goods are everywhere to be found. In the volume of trade goods gradually and surely, Leicester, which a few years ago exported shoes to a considerable extent, now not only does not export, but uses a great deal of American finished leather, while three-fourths of the shoe machinery in use is either of American make, or from American patterns, and American shoes are successfully retailed throughout the district. Our soda fountains have made their appearance this year, and in almost every store American wares are gradually and surely finding place."
The above remarks, Mr. Emery says, "are confirmed by the report of other consular reports in England. Consul James Boyle of Liverpool reports large increases in the imports of American goods from the United States. The packing of green fruits has improved notably, to the general satisfaction of the trade in England. Since the process of 'chilling' beef has been adopted in the United States, the volume of exports of that article from the United States steel plates amounting to 20,000 tons."

SAN FRANCISCO, June 22.—The United States army transport Sherman arrived from the Philippines last evening, and went immediately into quarantine. Among her passengers were Maj.-Gen. Lloyd Wheaton and Brig.-Gen. Snyder. On board were also 1000 men, forming the Sixth and Nineteenth Infantry regiments. The ship also brought back fifty-seven discharged soldiers, 197 sick men, three dead and one insane.
Gen. Wheaton returns in fairly good health. His long stay in the islands and the responsibility he has had to assume him greatly. He is very glad to be home again, and looks forward with pleasure to the time when he can leave the vessel for land.
Gen. Wheaton has made an enviable record in the Philippines. He left for Manila in January, 1899, and has been in active service ever since. During the last year he has been in charge of a district, and has by great exertive ability enjoined the natives from revolting. He is home for a much-needed rest.
During the voyage of the Sherman there were three deaths—Private William E. Carter, of Troop C, First Cavalry; Private William E. Morris of the 3d, Seventh Infantry; Serg. George W. Quick of Co. G, Sixth Infantry.
Gen. Simon Snyder was retired last May. He was in command of the Fifth (Spanish) Brigade, Department of the South Philippines, with headquarters at Iloilo.
"The life in the Philippines did not disagree with me," said the general. "I am in splendid condition physically." He is not enthusiastic over the oriental possessions, and expressed himself as being glad that he could now wash his hands of it all.
Another passenger on the Sherman was Capt. Andrew S. Rowan of the Nineteenth Infantry, who had a message from President McKinley to Gen. Garcia, at the outbreak of the Spanish war.

ROME, June 22.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The reply of Cardinal Rampolla, Papal Secretary of State, to the presentation by William H. Taft, Civil Governor of the Philippines, to the Vatican of his instructions from Secretary of War Root, was received by Gov. Taft last night. It has been translated into English, and after due consideration of the Cardinal's answer, Gov. Taft does not deem it proper to permit its publication at the present stage of proceedings, because he fears that by so doing he might embarrass the negotiations.
Cardinal Rampolla has submitted a copy of his reply to Judge Taft to the committee of cardinals which was formed to consider the matter of the religious orders and other church affairs in the Philippines, in order to inform them of the precise scope of the questions involved, and upon which it is hoped that definite results will shortly be arrived at.
It cannot be said that any conclusion has as yet been reached, but the general tenor of Cardinal Rampolla's reply gives reason to expect that Gov. Taft's negotiations will be entirely successful. Gov. Taft will answer Cardinal Rampolla's letter next Wednesday.

much trouble, but I believe the health officers have the disease well under control. These three dangers have been met and overcome by the Americans, and it is no exaggeration to say that half a million lives have been saved by the presence of the Americans in the Philippines.

One of Gen. Theobald's fellow-officers gave a vivid account of work done by the general in enforcing order in Northern Luzon. Acting under his orders, Gen. Bell established "zones of protection," which anti-insurrectionist "concentration camps." Into these he gathered all Filipinos, and it was not long before they began to see they were protected, and that the Americans were their friends. From this policy, rigidly carried out, it soon resulted that they gave their allegiance and induced their friends to come in. Even Gen. Malvar, when he surrendered, said it was Theobald's honest policy that made a longer struggle impossible.

Gen. Theobald will be retired July 15, after forty-one years' service. He expects to go to Washington in a few days.

HE DEFENDED ARMY'S NAME.

EX-SOLDIER DENIES DEATH.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.] A slanderous attack upon the army in the Philippines, made at a garden party given by a church near here, last night, started a desperate fight which is likely to cost four lives. One man is dead, and three others, including the traducer of the soldiers, and a discharged regular who recently returned from Manila and who defended the military, are probably fatally wounded. Rivington, the traducer of a young woman had a part in bringing about the encounter.

Monday, the successful editor, had incurred the enmity of one Barger, who had supported in Hobbs and Kennedy. The quarrel began with an exchange of personalities. Then Barger said: "Two-thirds of the American soldiers who went to the Philippines were hoodlums, and the other third were cowards and bullies." Monday, who served three years in the Ninth Infantry, and who is a survivor of the massacre of Co. C in Samar, gave Barger the lie. The latter, encouraged by Hobbs, repeated his charge, and Monday started to attack him.

Barger and Hobbs drew sheath knives, whereupon Monday drew a pocketknife. The men slashed each other savagely. Finally Monday's knife was knocked out of his hand. A friend handed him a revolver with which he shot Kennedy dead. Barger, Hobbs and Monday will probably die.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.] Capt. Frederick C. Wilde of the Thirtieth Infantry has been sentenced by court-martial to be reprimanded for the burning of a native cockpit at Lingayen, Luzon. In approving the findings of the court-martial which sentenced Capt. Wilde, Gen. Chaffee says the cockpits are a disgrace to the American flag, and did not show proper respect to the civil authorities.

PITH OF NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CHICAGO, June 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Chicago today was so dry at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Most of the day it was in the fifties with a fresh wind from off the lake, and light summer clothing comforted a discomfort. That Chicago does not enjoy a monopoly of unseasonable chilly weather was shown by reports from Western Nebraska that frosts had damaged grain crops considerably. Warmer weather and possible showers are promised for tomorrow.

ROBBED OF THEIR JEWELS.

The "Sultan of Sulu" and the "Princess Chic" otherwise Actor Frank D. Moulton and his wife, Maud Lillian Bert, ventured into Chicago Saturday night, from the secluded retreat of their Wisconsin summer home, put up at the Victoria Hotel, and neglecting to place the royal guard before their apartment were despoiled of $2100 worth of their jewels. The deed was done in daylight early this morning. Before Mrs. Moulton, who was awakened as the robbers were leaving the room, could summon assistance he had escaped.

THE DERBY HIS TEXT.

Rev. Johnson Henderson, who attended the Derby yesterday, made the race the subject of his sermon at the Armour Mission today. He said he failed to find general vice, and declared that sweeping condemnation of such contests by the uninformed were without foundation. Among other things, he said: "It is unsafe to prescribe any kind of amusement for some. One man is satisfied with ping-pong, while another will have nothing short of a spirited horse race. Both forms of amusement may prove harmful. It is always more a question of manhood than of the kind of amusement. As for the race itself, it was a splendid contest of a character in which spectators always have been and always will be interested."

KIDNAPED CHILD RECOVERED.

Mrs. Marion Thornton Egbert has recovered her little girl, who was kidnapped by her husband, Dr. J. V. Egbert, September 23, 1900. The mother found her child in Madras, India, after a long search, during which she was disguised part of the time as a nun. Mrs. Egbert is editor of a woman's magazine.

PORTLAND'S FIERCE FIRE.

Four Hundred Thousand Dollar Loss.

Six Blocks Destroyed in Four Hours.

Logging Outfits in the Cascades Burn—Utah Press Association's Excursion.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

PORTLAND (Or.) June 22.—A fire which started shortly before midnight last night, in the Phoenix Iron Works, formerly the Wolf & Zwickler plant on East Madison and East Water streets, burned for four hours, and destroyed six blocks of buildings, valued at $400,000. The insurance amounted to about $300,000.

It was long after daylight before the fire burned itself out, and several engines remained on the scene all day to day, to prevent the fire from springing up again. The following are the principal losses:

East Side Lumber Co.	$100,000
Phoenix Iron Works	$90,000
J. H. Johnston shipyard	75,000
Portland City Ry. Co.	20,000
Madison street bridge	25,000
City of Portland Roadways	20,000
Standard Oil Co.	15,000
Parlin, Orrendorff & Co.	15,000
Torpedo saloon and hotel	15,000
Miscellaneous	30,000

It was hardly ten minutes after the outbreak of the fire until the entire plant of the Phoenix Iron Works was in flames. The fire spread south to Johnston's shipyard, and north to the East Side Lumber Company's mill, destroyed the bridge across the river, which led to the city, and the fire in the Johnston shipyard there was a schooner being repaired, and a barge under construction. Both were destroyed with a lot of valuable machinery.

The fire next spread to the east, attacking the Standard Oil Company's plant, and also the implement warehouse of Parlin, Orrendorff & Co., in front of the Standard Oil Company's warehouse and two oil tanks were burned.

Two spans of the bridge across the Willamette River burned out and tumbled into the river. Just adjoining the bridge on the southwest was situated the warehouse and freight depot of the Portland City and Oregon Railway. These were destroyed, and the street leading to the city from the west, the city not being provided with a fire boat.

The fire department was badly handicapped for want of water. The engines could not reach the river, and the main on Water street, being a small one, made the supply of water entirely inadequate. There was no means of lighting the fire from the west, the city not being provided with a fire boat.

WAUKEGAN, June 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Some South-Side young men have organized a club with a unique provision. Members are liable to a dollar fine for being seen at the club with a woman who is not a member. Already the club treasury is becoming laden with cash, and the members are likely to "go broke" unless they give up their young women friends.

BRYAN'S DIRE THREAT.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

LINCOLN (Neb.) June 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] William J. Bryan returned tonight from his speaking tour in Missouri and Arkansas. He said he was not prepared to say anything yet on the Democratic harmony meeting at New York, but would have a statement early in the week.

TO LAISE FOX RIVER.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WAUKEGAN (Ill.) June 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Fox Lake Region Improvement Association has been successful in securing legislation by Congress for the construction of a dam at McHenry, Ill., to raise the water of Fox River and its tributaries.

ports have been received today from the scene of the forest fires now raging in the Cascade Mountains. A special from Hot Springs says all danger from the victims is now at an end, and the guests at the hotel are all well. The fire is now spreading. Reports from Lester, which was threatened last night, state that no danger is apprehended.

The Page Lumber Company's Camp at Eagle Gorge was destroyed Friday night, entailing a loss of $500. Several of the workmen had narrow escapes from this fire, being compelled to wade the river to avoid the advancing wall of flame.

The Kanaskat Shingle Company's mill was saved, but the outbuildings and most of the logging outfits were consumed. The loss will be about $3000.

At Carrington, the fire fighters have thus far been able to save the sawmill, though fire still encompasses it. A considerable portion of the logging outfit has been destroyed, the loss reaching $1000. Several smaller fires in Green River Valley have also been named to a greater or less extent. Not a single one has escaped some loss.

UTAH PRESS EXCURSIONISTS.

NOW DOING SAN FRANCISCO.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)
SAN FRANCISCO, June 22.—The Utah Press Association arrived here from the north this morning, and was met by a considerable number of the San Francisco Press Club, which organization of newspaper men entertained the party from Salt Lake in a trip in observation cars to the Ocean Beach and Cliff House.

The Utah editors attended a Mormon meeting tonight. Tomorrow they will be given a tug party on the bay by the San Francisco Press Club. The police tomorrow night, following which a link at the Press Club building will be given for the Utah people.

PUTZER FAITH IN CLAYTON.

IT COST HER GOOD MONEY.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] As soon as extradition papers can be secured, an Oakland officer will leave for Chicago to get E. L. Clayton, late assistant superintendent of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, who is wanted at West Oakland for swindling Mrs. Janet G. Putzer out of $995.

Clayton posed as a man of wealth. Finding that Mrs. Putzer had money in the bank, he called on her and told of a friend named George P. Hiller, who was willing to pay big interest for a loan of her money. She drew out the coin. He gave a note signed by Hiller, and she gave him the money. Since Clayton skipped out, she has discovered that Hiller is a myth, and just before Clayton went East he received word from the life-insurance company that his resignation would be accepted. Whether he was in arrears is not known.

were seen by a man named Dunlap, two miles east of La Center. The trail led through thick underbrush down the east bank of Lewis River. The dogs followed the trail for a mile or more, and then lost it, since which time all trace of the outlaws has been lost. Late last night a majority of the pursuers returned to camp, after posting guards along both banks of Lewis River wherever boats were known to be moored.

There are three suspicious characters hanging around La Center, who, Guard Carson says, are ex-convicts. They have appeared there at different times during the past week, and their suspicious actions attracted the attention of officers, who are keeping close watch on their movements. One of them yesterday, after spending several hours on horseback in the brush in the vicinity of where Tracy and Merrill were last seen, started to leave La Center in a boat. He was forced to return at the point of a gun by Ferrell, brother of one of the penitentiary guards. The men are suspected of trying to assist Tracy and Merrill to escape, and they have been ordered to leave the country.

Dunlap, who saw the convicts yesterday, says he was close enough to have killed the outlaws had he not been shot to his shoulder for that purpose once, when his wife intervened.

Carson and the dogs and four watchmen are now guarding the east side of Lewis River, while Sheriff Huntington and a posse are keeping a vigilant watch on the west side of the river.

KILLED WITH TOMATO CAN.

SUICIDE OF OWEN McHUGH.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

NEVADA, June 22.—Owen McHugh was arrested at Truckee Friday for insanity. It was the intention of the officers to bring McHugh to Nevada City the next day for examination. McHugh called for some water during the evening. It was supplied him in an ordinary tomato can. Shortly after he was taken to the jail, he was found by a passer-by, who notified Constable Long. The officer rushed to the jail, to find McHugh lying on the floor, covered with blood, nearly dead. He had severed several arteries in his head with the rough edge of the can. Ten minutes later he died, having bled to death.

LABOR AND THE FOURTH.

UNIONS AND GRAND MARSHAL.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 22.—Elizabeth A. Cornwell, appointed by Mayor Schmitt as chairman of the Fourth of July Celebration Committee, has resigned because Maj. George Filmer, chosen by the committee to act as grand marshal, has been denounced by the labor unions.

In a long letter to the Mayor, Cornwell complains bitterly of the opposition to Filmer. The latter, it is charged, is a labor union man, and the labor organizations notified the citizen body that if Filmer served as grand marshal that it was a labor union man in procession. Cornwell's resignation has not yet been accepted.

SANDOW'S HOGS BATHED.

GRASS VALLEY IS EXCITED.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

GRASS VALLEY, June 22.—What is commonly called the "hog case" is exciting great interest in this city. Abe L. Sandow has been arrested on a criminal charge. He is charged with violating section 374 of the Penal Code, relating to polluting streams that supply cities with water.

The allegation is made that a band of Sandow's hogs had been allowed to wallow in a ditch which supplies water to this city. Sandow is out on $1000 bonds. His son will also be arrested. He will have a preliminary hearing here Wednesday afternoon. A

FIRE AT SALINAS.

MILL, LUMBER AND BARN.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)
SALINAS, June 22.—Early this morning fire totally destroyed the Salinas Planing Mill, located in the heart of the city. Piles of lumber to the westward of the mill, amounting to hundreds of thousands of feet, were consumed. A large water tank close to the burning building was also destroyed, as was a barn, the property of County Auditor Allan McLean.

The other property belonging to the F. A. Huhn Company of Santa Cruz, whose loss is estimated at between $25,000 and $30,000, with partial insurance.

DIED FROM THE BLOW.

FIGHTER'S SKULL CRUSHED.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)
SAN JOSE, June 22.—Nech Martinelli died this afternoon from injuries received last night in a street row. Two rival gangs of young toughs, to one of which Martinelli belonged, fought, and in the fracas he was hit on the head by a club, the blow fracturing his skull.

Ed Gilbert and Charles Hertel have been arrested for the offense. The former is said to have wielded the bludgeon, and Hertel hit the prostrate Martinelli in the head. Companions took the injured man to his home, where he died without recovering consciousness.

CARBOLIC ACID IN WINE.

WEST MOORE TAKES POISON.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

REDDING, June 22.—Dependent over the ravages of an incurable disease, West Moore, 22 years of age, committed suicide early this morning at Kewick station on the railroad five miles north of this city.

At 2 o'clock this morning the young man went to a saloon and purchased a bottle of wine. He had previously bought carbolic acid from a drug store in Redding. Going to his room, he mixed the wine and acid and drank the contents of a tumbler. He then lay down, and at 8 o'clock this morning was found dead in his bed.

SCHOOL GYMNASIUMS

GERMANY REGENERATED BY GYMNAS-TICS AS A BRANCH OF PUBLIC EDUCATION—EXERCISE HELPS MOST ADVANTAGES OF COMPETITIVE ATHLETICS—LET US BUILD SCHOOLHOUSE GYMNASIUMS.

BY FEL X. G. SWALD, A. M., M. D.
The Author of "Physical Education," "The

HE notion of gymnastics would be the most serious reproach of our public school system if it were not for the circumstance that it America filled itself thus far has generally supplied the means of physical education. Primitive men—men of the cave—hardened their bodies by the use of the spear and outdoor sports; physical exercise affords them at once the necessities of existence and the means of recreation, and almost ensures them against bodily ills, except those due to the debility of old age. And it is the debility of old age that is the good fortune of our pioneer. To combine these advantages with many blessings of civilization. The struggle with the wilderness of a great continent implied the necessity of constant muscular efforts and regular sports, troubles in health and general vigor.

But for millions of our fellow-citizens there has been no Juvenius Mundi, the Arcadia period of the new world, have become traditions of the past. The eastern half of our national territory has been as thoroughly tamed as Western Europe. Our few remaining woodlands are disappearing under the plowshare. Game is getting scarce, hunting and fishing are becoming prerogatives of the privileged few.

We have titles of nobility—game preserve, game refuge, game reservation, etc.—but they do us little good except to lead us through miles of dead brush to reach anything like a free and easy playground. The public parks are reserved for promenaders; vacant lots fenced off "No trespassing," signs multiplied.

That state of affairs is to a large degree

PHYSICAL AND MORAL VALU-

Yet military success is not the one nor even the chief reward of an athletic education. Physical indolence predisposes cause of manifold disorders; without the stimulus of bodily exercise the human organism is liable to all sorts of disease. Indiscipline can only partly counteract.

The medical philosopher Asclepiadeus Piny tells us, had found that "healed men were more robustly stored, by physical exercise alone, and not only discarded the use of internal remedies, but a physical declaration was made that he would forfeit all claim to the title of physician, if his patients ever fell sick or die, but by violent or extreme old age." He used to prescribe a course of gymnastics for every patient, and he said that it might, with advantage, be applied to certain moral disorders. Some of the besetting vices of youth can be cleared up by such means.

free an unavowed socialism or, at the very least, a "new liberalism" that may be "advancing civilization"—but the remedy should no longer be postponed. "The time has come when the government by legislation," says Solon in Lysistrata's "Dialogue of Anacharsis," "but its influence may be limited by the law of nature, which invigorates the body and give a marked character to the amusements of our young men."

Europe recognized the wisdom of that advice fifty years ago, and the regeneration of the German Empire is due to the founder of the turner hall quite as much as to the founder of the turn of Bismarck & Co. In Prussia public gymnasia were introduced in 1850, millions of men were trained to the point that the Prussian army had become an overmatch for its rivals. The battle all those advantages, though it must be admitted that distance from the stores was another point in favor of the American pioneer. The cupboards in modern farmhouses are, however, often crammed with mischievous nothings, and it may be said that hard work alone turns the scales against a combination of sanitary handicaps which otherwise would wear out the strongest constitutions in the course of a few years.

PASSION FOR ATHLETICS.
The curriculum of our public schools, it is true, has become exacting enough to engross all the leisure hours of our youngsters, except those urgently needed for recreation, but happy normal children would include gymnastics in the list of pastimes rather than of irksome tasks. The young of our species have a natural penchant for his two sons won the entire pentathlon; that is, carried off the five prizes for victory in the five events. Pindar's Rhodians were not the only victors in the Hellenic coastlands had been training during the four years preceding the Olympic games. Pindar's Rhodians were the only victors who were able to carry him through the arena, the roar of cheers, according to Dion Cassius, was so loud that it could be heard at a distance of seven miles. The Rhodian rosters may have brought their fame to the ears of the poet, but he probably founded on something more than the hyperbole of a partisan chronicler. The shouts of a baseball ground, with the cheering of the spectators at the Olympian assembly, can be heard five times as far as the maximum effort of the human voice. The poet had of that Rhodian triumph may be inferred from Pindar's remark that Diagoras had heard nothing on earth, and the herald's voice had proclaimed the names of the victors—the gods having granted that the happiest mortals should be the victors.

CURE FOR VICIOUSNESS.

Can it be doubted that the power of that enthusiasm could be made to exert a redeeming influence on the entire moral and social life of our cities?

The endowment of a prize gymnasium would turn thousands of boy toppers into young athletes; juvenile idlers would find a way to utilize their leisure hours; their health would improve morally as well as physically. It is a suggestive fact that the vilest young hoodlums of the period are found in provincial towns that lack the pastimes of the large cities; ennui tempts them as it tempts the adult yahoos of country districts that have lost their fish and game and try to reproduce the excitement of coon hunts in the man

"What made you set that barn afire?" the court asked an amateur incendiary in knee breeches: "did the owner do anything to incur your resentment?"

"N-no, sir; it wasn't for spite," stammered the defendant: "I didn't know who owned the straw."

"Why, but you must have had some

"Well, sir, there has been no circus in town for a year, and they won't let us run races in the park any longer, and—" with a burst of tears—"it's more'n a kid can stand, so we got up a scheme to make the fire engines gallop, because there's nothing else doing but work and sleep."

SUGGESTS SCHOOL GYMNASIUM.
A schoolhouse gymnasium would supply that want and would attract hundreds of wild youngsters. And it would be a mistake to suppose that hardy habits tend to weaken the character; on the contrary, the bravest lad of a parish can be known by his cheerfulness and his frank good nature. Every school teacher knows that young rustics can be more easily managed than city loafers, and I often remember the remark of a French training ship surgeon of blunt speech but with a sharp eye for the character traits of his young countrymen. "If I had my own way," he said, "every boy in the marine should serve an apprenticeship in the rigging and learn to rough it before he gets a soft berth. The lads that have grown up before the mast make the best men in every way, brave, honest fellows, most of them, while the cabin boys who have been pampered with tidbits and soft jobs generally turn out—"prevaricating puppies," or words to that effect.

Let us build schoolhouse gymnasiums and insure the health of our children till we can find a better way to save both their bodies and their souls.

What to do to maintain health and keep the muscular system in good condition in hot weather is the subject of the next article in the Physical Culture series, to appear in The Times tomorrow. The writer is Frederick W. Stone, athletic instructor of the Chicago Athletic Association, formerly athletic instructor

Grand Opening Concert by Choral Union—Large Congregation Hears President Gates Deliver Baccalaureate Sermon—Prize Contests Occur Today.

CLAREMONT, June 22.—Commencement week was grandly opened last evening with the concert by the Choral Union. Previous to the rendering of the difficult sacred cantata, "Rebekah," the soloists, Miss Eleanor Goodman, soprano, and Miss Julia Phelps, harpist, gave a performance which will long be remembered as the most pleasing and artistic ever given at the college. The chorus was directed by Prof. William I. Andruss in a most satisfactory manner. The work of Miss Goodman in the chorus is to be especially commended for its accuracy, feeling and artistic taste. The voices were accompanied by the piano, organ and harp, played by Miss Condit, Prof. Hitchcock and Miss Phelps.

On Sunday morning a congregation too large to be accommodated in the chapel assembled to hear the baccalaureate sermon by President George A. Gates. The music for the occasion was "A Te Deum by Buck, sung by a double mixed quartette, and "Ave Maria," sung by Miss Eleanor Goodman, accompanied by the harp, piano and organ.

Dr. Gates spoke eloquently, his subject being "The Forward Look." The sermon was a splendid appeal to the graduating class.

This afternoon the vesper communion was held and this evening, after a short praise service, the address to the Christian associations was made by Dr. George W. White.

On Monday at 10 o'clock will occur the Condit contests for excellency in extemporaneous address and sight-singing; at 3 o'clock in the afternoon the Dole prize debate, and in the evening the graduating of the preparatory school.

Claremont is thronged with visitors and alumni, but there are accommodations for more.

SCHOOL GYMNASIUMS.

GERMANY REGENERATED BY GYMNAS-TICS AS A RESULT OF PHYSICAL EDU-CATION—EXERCISE HELPS MORALITY—A-VANTAGES OF COMPETITIVE ATHLET-ICS—LET US BUILD SCHOOLHOOD
GYMNASIUMS.

BY FEL X. L. OSWALD, A. M., M. D., (Author of "Physical Education," "The Remedies of Nature," etc.)

THE neglect of gymnastics would be the most serious reproach of public school system if it were for the circumstance that in America itself thus far has generally adopted the means of physical education—Primitive men—hunters and shepherds—pass their days in outdoor life. The modern world, however, excess affords them at once the necessaries of existence and the means of recreation, and almost secures them against bodily ills, except wounds and the debility of extreme old age. And was the rare good fortune of our peoples to combine these advantages with many blessings of civilization. Their struggle with the wilderness of a great continent implied the necessity of exercising muscular efforts and rapid troubles in health and outdoor sports.

But for millions of our fellow-citizens the days of that Juventus Mundi, the Arcadia period of the new world, has been the sad condition of the past. The central half of our national territory has been as thoroughly tamed as Western Europe. Our few remaining woodlands are disappearing at the rate of a million acres a year. Game is getting scarce, hunting and fishing are becoming prerogatives of the privileged few.
We have cities where the children the poor have to trudge through millions of dust to reach anything like a pleasant, muscular effort and the are reserved for promenaders; vacations are fenced and watched. "No tr-passes" signs multiply.

That state of affairs is to a large extent an unavoidable concomitant of increasing population—do not let us "advance civilization"—but the remedy should no longer be postponed.

"It is impossible to repress effectually by legislation," says Solon in his "Dialogue of Anacharsis." Its influence may be counteracted athletic games, that invigorate body and give a marked character the amusements of your young men.

GYMNASIUMS IN GERMANY.

Europe recognized the wisdom of advice fifty years ago, and the regeneration of the German Empire is due to the founder of the Turner hall quite as much as to the political cunning Bismarck & Co. In Prussia public gymnasiums were introduced in 1850, in Italy gymnastics in 1855, and ten years later the Prussian army had becoman overmatch for its rivals. The bat-of Sadowa, in spite of strategic mistakes, was won by the superior physical condition of the Prussian soldiers. Field-Marshal Benedek, the champion of the south, thought he had them trapped, and forced one of the divisions to march more than thirty miles other was eleven miles away, but the trained vigor enabled them to intercept the march of the Prussians, and to charge till the arrival of their comrades turned the scale of numeric superiority.

Years after the advantage of the armament was on the side of France, the chassepot and the mitrailleuse were not so much matched by any product of the Prussian arsenals, and in four out of five battles the French had the choice of position, but the fatigue and the energy of their opponents prevailed again and again, till the intended Napoleonic war of conquest became a mere struggle for existence, and as long as human hands have to make the highly improved weapons of modern warfare and human feet to execute the tactical movements, the most automatic, battle luck will, to a large extent, continue to be biased by a preponderance of physical vigor.

PHYSICAL AND MORAL VALUATION.

Yet military success is not the honor even the chief reward of an athletic education. Physical indolence is a predisposing cause of manifold diseases, and the neglect of the body not only discarded the use of internal remedies, but made a public declaration that the man was unfit to receive the title of a physician if he should ever fall sick and die, but by violence or extreme old age. He used to prescribe a course of gymnastics for the form of physical disease, and his physician, with advantage, be applied to the treatment of the disease, the besetting vices of youth can be cleared away, and the vigor of the system traced to an excess of potential energy, and the temperance of the system and temperance is often due to the temptation of stimulating the internal organs when the motive muscles are discarded, and the habit of inactivity "large cities," says an educational reformer, "parents owe their children the opportunity for frequent active exercise." Parents owe them the antiseptic diet in a malarial climate.

BAD HABITS COUNTERACTED.

As a test for the remedial value of physical education, we should compare the sanitary statistics of cities and rural districts, and remember that, moreover, the advantage of bodily vigor has to assert itself against many of the hygienic drawbacks of the modern world. Ninety-nine out of a hundred American farmers are the principal meal of the day in the brief intervals of field work, and almost immediately after the meal they are engaged in tending their hives. They are stimulant workers, fuddling with medical nostrums many of them, or with home-brewed tipples, as well as with coffee, and the result is a miserable inactivity, and rarely half sufficient. Large families often sleep together in bedrooms that are almost intolerable in heat, and the heat threatens the "draught" dreaded with suffocation. Many herders of the Western States sleep in caboosees that are almost insupportable in heat, and worth fifty tents in a rainstorm, but have no windows, and after the tightest of windings, and the most of the night become a veritable Calcutta, with black holes on wheels, forcing their occupants to breathe the same exhausted atmosphere over and over again for hours together.

Yet active exercise prevails against these drawbacks, and should not be admitted that distance from drug stores was another point in favor of the American pioneer. The cupboards are almost empty of the stimulants, and crammed with miscellaneous nostrums, and it may be said that hard work would overcome the premises, but the combination of sanitary handicaps which otherwise would wear out the strongest constitutions in the course of a few years.

PASSION FOR ATHLETICS.

The curriculum of our public schools, it is true, has become exacting enough to engross all the leisure hours of the child, and the child is not only needed for recreation, but happy normal children would include gymnastics in the list of pastimes rather than of irksome tasks. The young athlete has to give more to his body than to his mind, and the active exercise. Physical sloth is one of the vices that should be dropped from our catalogue of original sin. If a child is vigorous, he should count on the "wolf" boy of China, he would turn out an accomplished gymnast, though perhaps also in the Greek sense of the word, and he would have the athlete's custom of dispensing with delicacies. Nature seems to deem the development of the body a matter of greater importance than the development of the mind. The poor, ragged waifs of the big manufacturing towns can be seen at the entrance of the premises of the house gymnasium, as they would have the approaches of a baseball ground, and the children of the poor would be the holes of the board fence and impervious ready to accept the favor of an invigorating breeze.

And that passion could be encouraged by the plan of the Grecian palaestra, or outdoor gymnasium, and the child could be seen in the morning on the adjoining meadow—a "village green" as our old England cousins would call it, and the rough-and-tumble sports of the pastime could be seen in the neighborhood of acclamation in the neighborhood of every American schoolhouse. The child could be seen in the neighborhood of the board fence and impervious ready to accept the favor of an invigorating breeze.

STIMULUS OF COMPETITION.

Competition would complete the stimulus of health-giving exercise. The enthusiasm for kindred athletic games of Olympia seems to have defied comparison with the athletic of all other pastimes whatever. Athenian history tells us that the games were held in the sight of the spectators, multitudes whom no such benches could begin to hold, and who were seen in the neighborhood of the terraces of a natural amphitheatre. International quarrels and family feuds were forgotten in the preparation for the interval of forty-eight hours, and as the process its close, and even prisoners of war and political culprits were released on parole if they wished to contest the laurel wreath of any championship, to deprive them of such a privilege being regarded as a political penalty too severe for a political offense. The esthetic power of an Olympic triumph is well illustrated by the story of the Greek athlete, who had been a famous champion in the Roman days and was present the two sons won the entire pentathlon; that is, carried off the five prizes for which in the warfare of the gods the Icterranean coastlands had been training during the four years preceding the war. The Olympian victors and visitors uplifted the old man to carry him through the arena. The roar of cheers, according to Dion Cassius, was heard in the harbor of Patrai, at a distance of seven miles. The Rhodian rosters may have brought their foe to the harbor of Patrai, and possibly founded on something more for the hyperbole of a partisan chronicler. The shouts of a baseball ground, with the roar of the Olympian party at an Olympian assembly, can be heard five times as far as the maximum effort of an individual voice, and the excitement of that Rhodian triumph may be inferred from Pindar's remark that Dion Cassius heard of nothing new on earth after the herald's voice had proclaimed the names of the victors—the gods having granted that the happiest moment of his life should be his last!

CURE FOR VICIOUSNESS.

Can it be doubted that the power of that enthusiasm could be made to exert a redeeming influence on the entire manhood and womanhood of the world? The endowment of a prize gymnasium would turn thousands of idle boys into young athletes; juvenile idleness would be banished for good; in a few hours; their health would improve morally as well as physically. It is a suggestive fact that the same sort of provincial towns that lack the pastimes of the large cities, enslave tempt the women of the neighborhood to the country districts that have lost their fish and game and try to reproduce the pleasures of the city. The man hunt is the white-cap leagues.

"What made you set that barn afire?" the court asked an amateur incendiary who had set a life of one of the village "do-nothing to incur your resentment?"

"No, sir; it wasn't for spite," stammered the culprit. "I didn't know who owned the straw."

"Why, but you must have had some motive or other; if you don't pretend to know, you must at least tell the plain truth: It will be a great deal better for you."

"Well, sir, there has been no circus in town for a year, and they won't let us run races in the park any longer, and I can't get a horse, and I want more'n a kid can stand, so we got up a scheme to make the fire engines develop, because there's nothing else do."

SUGGESTS SCHOOL GYMNASIUMS.

A schoolhouse gymnasium would supply that want and would attract hundreds of wild youngsters. And it would do more. It would break up the vicious habits tend to weaken the character; on the contrary, the bravest lad of a parish can be known by his cheerfulness and less than good nature. Every school teacher knows that young rustics can be more easily managed than city boys, and that the more they learn the more they grow up before he can get a soft berth. The lads that have grown up before the mast make the best men in every way, brave, honest fellows, most of them, while the cabin boys who have been pampered with tidbits and soft jobs generally turn out to be worse than dog puppies. It is words to that effect.

Let us build schoolhouse gymnasia and insure the health of our children till they are old and strong. Let us have both their bodies and their souls.

COMMENCEMENT OF POMONA COLLEGE UNDER WAY.

Grand Opening Concert by Choral Union—Large Congregation Hears President Gates Deliver Baccalaureate Sermon—Prize Contests Occur Today.

CLAREMONT, June 22.—Commencement week was grandly opened last evening by the Choral Union of Pomona College. Previous to the rendering of the difficult sacred cantata, "Rebekah," the soloists, Miss Eleanor Goodman, soprano, and Miss Julia Phelps, harpist, and Miss Phelps, who will long be remembered as the most pleasing and artistic ever given at the college. The chorus was directed by Prof. William I. Andrews in a most satisfactory manner. The work of Miss Goodman and Miss Phelps was especially commended for its accuracy, feeling and artistic taste. The voices were accompanied by the piano, organ and harp, played by Miss Condit, Prof. H. C. Smith and Miss Phelps.

On Sunday morning a congregation too large to be accommodated in the chapel assembled to hear the baccalaureate sermon by President George A. Gates. The music for the occasion was "A Te Deum by Buck, sung by a double mixed quartette, and "Ave Maria," sung by Miss Eleanor Goodman, accompanied by the harp, piano and organ.

Dr. Gates spoke eloquently, his subject being "The spiritual communion with Christ." This evening, after a short praise service, the address to the Christian associations was made by Dr. Gates.

On Monday at 10 o'clock will occur the contest of prizes for excellence in composition, address and sight-singing, and at 3 o'clock the afternoon prize debate, and in the evening the prize debating of the preparatory school.

Claremont is thronged with visitors and alumni, but there are accommodations for more.

SPORTING NOTES ON VARIOUS SUBJECTS.

SHORT ITEMS OF INTEREST TO MANY READERS.

Waddell's Jump Did Not Surprise any of the Fans—Morley Has a Find in Cast-of-Lawyer—Age of Pugilists—Why Fitz Hits Hard.

Well, as every one expected, the great Rube Waddell has jumped the Looools to play with the Philadelphia club, and not a fan in this city surprised, and least of all, Manager Morley. A week after Morley signed the Rube, he told the writer that if he could keep him the club would be that much ahead, but if he jumped, that would end it. Furthermore, the news of a dozen of the players jumping the State League before another month, would not surprise any of the fans on the inside. It was quietly whispered around here two weeks ago that about a dozen of the best in the league would jump the State as soon as the Looools went north, and O'Connell would go with them. Now Rube has gone, and before O'Connell left here with the Sacramento team last week, he told several parties that he was going to umpire in the Northwest. As he is still here, the negotiations are evidently not closed. The next news we may expect is that a bunch of the best have jumped.

The Cincinnati club is trying to get Catcher Jiggs Donahue, who was released by the St. Louis American League club.

Some of the eastern papers say that since Rube was hit by a beer bottle, a sling shot and an egg in San Francisco recently, that he can no longer himself initiated as a barn stumper.

Tacks Parrott seems to think that McPartlin can pitch a little in the long time, but when he faced Mac first, he saw balls he never saw before. They came slowly up to the plate, twirling around and then went by him.

The fans in Cincinnati do not think much of Rube, but it is a gold medal that they will never get a better third baseman. He is not much of a hitter, but people forget that when they watch him field the ball.

On the trip home from here last week, Fitcher, Devinger, and the passenger engine and "fret" from here to Bakersfield. If he would only stick to that kind of a job, he would make a reputation for himself that he can not get in the ball business.

Roger Connor, the famous first baseman, who has a gold medal for making the longest hit on the New York polo grounds, has retired from baseball, after playing twenty-five consecutive seasons. He will now manage the Springfield, Mass. team.

Waddell may regret his jump to Philadelphia, for Joe fans in this city are sore at both the league clubs, and are attending the amateur games. While he is in the hall, he has lost the last three games he pitched in this State, and if he does not improve, Mac will find he is not worth $250 per month to any club, and certainly not to any in California.

Manager Morley left San Francisco last night for Los Angeles to corral the players, and he can surely have his pick of a big lot of good ones, for there are plenty of them in the city.

From present appearances Morley should keep Lawler, for he is hitting the ball hard and playing his position in fine shape. He is a catcher, and off that Hank the Deering might have kept with credit to himself.

Left Fielder Jackson, the new man of the local team, has made good so far. He is an excellent fielder, and a good batter, and when he gets acquainted with the California sky, he may accomplish wonders with the bat. In yesterday afternoon's game he rapped out two doubles.

A northern paper has done us the justice to say that we have a club of star players, but lack team work. When the boys recover from the present attack of grasshopper fever, and will pull hard together, something will drop in the percentage column, and it won't be us either.

Umpire O'Connell is sore because the Los Angeles papers accused him of going on the field in a boozey condition. While no one here ever openly accused him of being drunk on account of the field, many suspected that he was trying to put the saloons out of business. Some of the deacons were bad enough to justify the belief.

The Missouri Supreme Court has denied the motion to set aside the case of Wallace vs. St. Louis Baseball Club. This means that the legal fight of the National League for the services of three players is at an end, and as the case now stands, the American League Club, with which they are playing, has secured a victory.

When President Lucas of the Northwest League wired O'Connell asking if he would take $200 per month, he was preparing for the threatened disruption of his league on account of the dissatisfaction with his umpire, Mullane.

Ames, the subject of Rube the Jumper, the following from a Washington paper of a late date, will be interesting:

"Rube Waddell, the great bat erratic southpaw, will pitch in Chicago Sunday for the Philadelphia Athletics. He will take the place of Mack's men, and will be pitted against Callahan in all probability. Mack signed Waddell while he was playing in the California League, and the twirler will reach Chicago some time today. He wired ahead to let Mack know that he was ready and willing to show into the game as soon as he landed in Chicago, even if it was on a Saturday afternoon. Since the Athletics will not open in Chicago until Sunday, however, Waddell will have one day in which to rest himself after his long journey. Waddell went to the Coast last winter, and the barnstorming team, because infatuated with the climate, and concluded to stay. He was immediately suspended by the Chicago National League, since, drawing out enormous crowds."

LEADS AND COUNTERS.

The gate receipts of the Britt-Lavin fight in San Francisco several weeks ago, were over $5000. Of this sum Britt got $1825.50, and Lavinne $325.50.

Jem Mac's son, Al, who started in life as a prize fighter, is now touring the country as an evangelist, and the new graft seems to be a profitable one.

Peter Felix, the negro who holds the heavyweight championship of Australia, says he intends to challenge the winner of the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons fight. He is a library edition of old Peter Jackson.

Owen Zeigler of Philadelphia and Jack Bennett of Pennsylvania will box twenty rounds tomorrow night in Savannah, Ga., for a purse of $1000 and a side bet of $500.

George Dixon, ex-featherweight champion, is now boxing in Jay towns for small purses in one-night stands. The other night in Dayton, O., he went against a local scrapper, and threw up the sponge after five rounds.

Terry McGovern, had his collar bone broken in a baseball game on Long Island last week, and the accident will doubtless hurt his chances with Young Corbett, when they meet in September.

SUBMARINE GUSHER AT CORONADO.

LANDLORD BABCOCK'S VISION OF OILY WEALTH.

Petroleum Spouts Up Through Waters of the Bay, But Investigation Shows Its Source to Be a Sewer—San Diego News Notes.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.

SAN DIEGO, June 22.—To add to the attractions of life at Tent City, on Coronado Beach, oil was discovered there yesterday morning bubbling up through the briny water and created the dredged in Glorietta Bay. The wealth-giving fluid, and operations were suspended and a messenger dispatched for Mr. Babcock, who hastened to the scene and immediately gave it the name of "The real thing," and no mistake about it. It came up in considerable quantity and spread itself over the surface, bright and clear, and seemed to be the oil of the intention of Providence to furnish everything required at that spot, as cheap fuel is about the only thing lacking to make living within the reach of the poorest.

Visions of refineries and vast commercial interests flashed through Babcock's brain as he mentally calculated that he would make the Standard Oil Company look like thirty cents, when he got things moving in the vicinity of his submarine gusher. As soon as he had satisfied himself that it was no fake, Babcock made a nine and four-fifths dash for the telephone, and summoned his attorney, Mr. Shaw, from this side of the bay, to lose no time in materializing at Coronado. Shaw, thinking only of death and last disposition, left his breakfast partially eaten and started for Coronado. Babcock met him with his automobile on the other side—the electric cars were too slow—and they were ready for occupancy. The outcrop in business and the crops, though light, will command a good price.

PREPARING TO GET AWAY.

OKNARD, June 22.—Affairs are fast assuming a campaign aspect, although the starting of the sugar mill is still some three weeks or a month off. The factory is employing over three hundred men. The best fields are looking green, and the weather is favorable for several weeks. The work on new buildings is also being pushed in. The new building is being pushed in. The new building is being pushed in.

SAN LUIS OBISPO.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, June 22.—At the meeting of the City Council in July an order will be passed for the paving of the two main business streets under the provisions of the Vrooman act. Bituminous rock will be the material used.

An election will be called in a few months to vote bonds for $30,000 for the construction of a new High School building.

George W. Mauk, who died recently in Phoenix, Ariz., was Sheriff of San Luis Obispo county from 1875 to 1877.

Miss Mabel King gave a party last evening in honor of Miss Grace Northrup of San Jose.

A sweet pea fair will be given at Arroyo Grande on June 28 and 29.

R. L. Force of Vacaville is visiting his brother, D. H. Force.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Nohl are visiting relatives here.

WATER LAND JOB.

It has developed that there is a little job in the proposition to sell the 140 acres of land in the city of San Luis Obispo, and a glance at the records shows that this tract is assessed for $450, which shows that the difference is so vast that much opposition has developed, and it is more generally known that no service is in regard to this transaction will cease, and that the city will look to the water land job.

WATER BOSS RESIGNS.

Superintendent Alverson of the water department has resigned. It is not positively known who will be succeeded by his successor, but rumor has it that the city will look to the water land job.

ACTIVITY AT BARRACKS.

Activity prevails at the regular army barracks, this city. The officers are busy in connection with the new pipe line to Fort Rosecrans, and other improvements under way by the government. The army is now here tomorrow, and work will at once begin placing it in position. The soldiers will receive two suits of khaki uniforms, tan gaiters, brown leggings and hats, and this uniform will be worn at all drills, except on dress parade.

OCEANSIDE BOOMING.

Times are looking brighter at Oceanside. A new hotel is to be built there by Redlands parties. Mrs. Gertrude S. Bowers, one of the projectors of this enterprise, has purchased 127 lots and a ten-acre tract there, for $7000. In some times of 18 this same land was sold for $80,000. Some new cottages are under construction, and houses are being built. The city assessment has trebled in value this year, and bonds are to be sold for the purpose of constructing sidewalks and grading streets.

GOOD FOR IMPERIAL.

A contract has been entered into between the Imperial Farming and Milling Company of Imperial, and the Eagle Mining Company of Tucson, which means a good deal for Imperial. Under the agreement, the Imperial company will act as agent for the Tucson company, which wishes to secure the grain product of 25,000 acres to be grown the coming season, the grain to be shipped to Tucson to be milled. Special terms have been promised to Imperial farmers, who will give them better prices for their grain than is realized in other sections of the State. Growing grain with irrigation has been demonstrated this season to be very successful in this section. Grading for the spot, the from the main line of the Southern

RIFLE PRACTICE.

Seven members of the Los Angeles Sharpshooters went to Azusa yesterday as the guests of the Azusa rifle men and enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent. It was the intention to have the marksmen present from Glendora, but they failed to show up, and those present then had an informal shoot, no scores being kept. The shooting was at 200 yards, German rifle target, and Averill of Azusa made the high score of 234. The local marksmen in the highest praise of their treatment by their Azusa brothers, saying that they were dined and wined and driven about, and were not allowed to pay out any money for expenses. Those present from this city were Messrs. Weacott, Mason, Harper, Rishel, Rios, Idings and Brockway.

CHILD DRINKS POISON.

BOISE (Idaho) June 22.—News has reached Boise of the death of a three-year-old child, the son of Oscar Brunzel at Reynolds, from taking strychnine. Some visitor to the house and the child's mother, who was a nurse, had drunk some of it, and died shortly afterward.

A dark, vertical, textured strip, possibly a book binding or a piece of fabric, with a lighter, textured background. The strip has a fine, vertical ribbed texture and is set against a lighter, mottled background. The right edge of the strip is irregular and appears to be part of a larger structure, possibly a book cover or a piece of fabric.
